TAYLOR is Governor of Kentucky Acting under instructions of the Post office Department all mail addresses to the Governor of Kentucky is deliv to the Governor of Kentucky is delivered to Governor Taylor. All nota-rial appointments by Pretender BECK-BAM have been denied recognition by the Pension Department and those ap-pointed by Governor Taylor accorded recognition. The Governorship of young Mr. BECKHAM, says The Times-Star, appears to start and to stop with the name.

The Goebelites may argue as they will, yet the stubborn facts remain that on November 7th, 1859, W. S. TAYLOR WAS elected Governor of Kentucky—first, "by the great common people" of shown the late Mr. (GERML WAS SO MIND MAN AND MA the de facto Governor, and that ther can be but one legal Chief Executive in this or any other state.

A WRITER for The Louisville Post likens the present condition of affairs in Kentucky to that of Mrs. PARTINI-TON, who was strolling through the back yard one windy, mountit night, when her own snowy nightcap, hung on a rosebush to dry, made her a cheatly leve.

ghostly bow.
"A ghost!" A ghost!" shricked the poor woman, as she fell fainting in the poor woman, as she fell fainting in the arms of those who had rushed to her reseaue. "Volcanie" saits at the nostrils and a little "annechy" on the bruises soon brought the old woman around, but she never fully recovered ber reasoning faculties on the subject of ghosts. Whenever company touched upon ghost stories the old lady would invariably wind up—
"One night I was as-walkin' in the back yard, when all to one ta hyeard nestlin' and a whisterin' and turned around, and what do you think? There stood, all in a long, white gound, the whitest ghost I ever seed, and—"

and—"
"But, grandma," one of the children would explain, "you know that had nothing to do with ghosts. We took you up to it a half hour later and proved that it was only your one ingitacep hanging on a rosebush.
Ghosts had nothing to do with your fright."

"Why, my denr, that's so. didn't really—but I keep forgetting. All the same, however, for years after Mrs. Partington would "keep forgetting" and begin to rehearse her story of the ghost, only to be reminded again and again of the folly of her claim.

"You're right, my dear. That's so.
But I keep forceting."
The vile assassination of Senator
GOREIL, which shocked every rightminded man and woman in America,
seems to have permanently impaired the reasoning faculties of his followers. They insist that, thecause he was shot down by a cowardly murderer, he died, de jure and de facto, the Gorermor of the Commonwealth.
"But, my dear sir, he failed to receive the necessary votes. The fact of

"We-oll, that's so. I didn't think of that. I keep forgetting,"
And for a few hours the male Partington is calm and tolerally reasonable. But let him become excited again on the subject and off he goes at a tangent, forgetting that the deplorable tragedy of January, 1900, in nowise changed the result of the election in November, 1899.

THE railroads are real mean when the strike back. Representatives of the Southern, Louisville and Nash-Louis and Illinois Central Railroads held a conference at Chattanooga and adopted a cast-iron rule that no passes adopted a cast-iron rule that no passes will be issued this year for Delegates to either the Republican or Demo-eratic Conventions, both of which will be held in Nashville. JOKE ON THE LEGISLATURE.

When the Democratic branch of the Legislature that had been in session at Louisville decided to adjourn to Frankfort, Inquiry was made about the cost of transportation. The Chesapeake and N., which requires the C. and O. to charge full rates at all times. The rate from Louisville to Frankfert is $1.65. The L. and N. officials, however, when they heard of the adjournment, proposed to carry the Legislators, Clerks and others at reduced rates, offering a rate of $1.20 each if there were ten or more in orn territory, as shown by a recent investigation.
